RAPID RESPONSE

As our country faces an imminent health care crisis caused by COVID-19, Farnsworth Group is poised to offer rapid response architecture and engineering services for your planning and design needs. As a full-service architecture and engineering firm, we have the capability to deliver all related professional services to our healthcare clients quickly and efficiently at a time when speed is of the essence.

VALUE TO OUR CLIENTS

We have assembled a Healthcare Studio consisting of people who are passionate about serving our healthcare clients with design expertise in, but not limited to:

- Emergency Departments
- Intensive Care Units
- Isolation Rooms
- Outpatient Clinics
- Critical Access Hospitals

We know changes are coming and more changes are coming after that. We can bring expertise to navigate this environment as it evolves.

PROJECT APPROACH

We are prepared to meet your needs for quick, nimble, and knowledgeable consulting. We bring expert understanding of regulatory requirements and practical, experienced solutions that are folded seamlessly into the design recommendations.

Our approach is about commitment to good communication, reliability, and creativity rooted in practicality. The long-term relationships we have with our clients are testimony to the success of our approach.
